CYPRESS OPENS UP ITS HEART—Within two hours of the fire last Wednesday evening which destroyed the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Spratte and their seven children, residents arose to the need of the moment with donations of clothes, household goods, and cash donations. Pictured above is Mrs. George Dykstra, mother of four children, bringing boxes of food and clothing to the homeless family. The Rev. William D. Howard, pastor of the Cypress Church of the Nazarene which became headquarters for the collections, looks on as Mrs. Neal Spratte opens up the boxes.—(P.T. photo)

THREE MEN NAMED TO FUNCTION AS CITIZEN'S WELFARE COMBINE

COUNTY MAKES MOVE TO IMPROVE ROADS IN CYPRESS AREA

As chairman of Highways and roads, a standing committee of the Cypress Chamber of commerce, A. E. "Pat" Arnold has been spending a good deal of time out of town the past few days.

In an interview Tuesday evening, Arnold stated that one of the most significant accomplishments has been a white line which was painted down Walker street to Ball road. Since the town's only physician, who lives on Walker, has been hampered in driving on foggy nights, this move expedites his travel.

It is hoped, Arnold said, that Walker street will be improved from the P.E. tracks and extended to Cerritos, within the county limits, in a short while. There is still some ground to be gained before this is accomplished. Arnold would like to see the road paved all the way from the Coyote creek bridge, the county line north of Orangethorpe.

A county official has assured Arnold that stop signs can be arranged for the corner of Miller road and Crescent. Three car wrecks have occurred there in the immediate past.

At the request of the Rev. William D. Howard, a citizen's committee was appointed by James Broadbelt, president of the Cypress Chamber of Commerce, to administer the funds and other donations collected for the Spratte family. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Spratte and their seven children was completely destroyed by fire last Wednesday.

The Rev. Mr. Howard, who was a member of the Red Cross during the war and trained in disaster procedure, was able to provide relief for the family almost immediately. The response to his mimeographed and telephoned appeals for help was beyond expectations.

It is hoped that this committee will function in case of any future emergency. Named with Howard as chairman were H. J. G. "Happy" Kreissler, representing the VFW and Richard Hathcock, the chamber. A backlog of materials not used in this misfortune will serve for future use.

Family Relocates Here

Purchase of a lot at 8391 Moody street has been arranged for on an installment plan. Two houses were moved to the site from Long Beach City college campus on Tuesday by Stanton House movers. It is planned to join them together to make an adequate structure to house the family. Volunteers in this project, also, are speeding the work of remodeling.

Cypress Friends Attend Last Rites For T. J. Boyd

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon in Long Beach for T. J. Boyd, former Cypress nurseryman, with interment in Sunnyside Memorial park.

The Rev. Frank C. Mathews, pastor of the North Long Beach Methodist church was the officiating clergyman.

Boyd was forced to retire last spring after an acute illness. He and Mrs. Boyd bought a trailer house following the sale of their business, and had spent the winter months on the Colorado river resting and fishing. The couple had attended a wiener roast given in the camp and after retiring about 11:30 p.m., death came suddenly and without warning. He had not yet fallen into slumber.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd had planned to leave California early in April and visit in Illinois, and then go to Florida. Next year, at the age of 65 ,he would have been entitled to a pension.

They spent Christmas in the home of their daughter in San Francisco, and had only recently returned to camp. Mrs. Boyd will return to San Francisco with her daughter, Mrs. Lulu Myers, who resides at 462 Candlestick road, building 61.

Theodore James Boyd, 64, died Jan. 19 at Earp, Calif. He was a native of Kewanee, Ill., was a retired electrician, and belonged

Said In Cypress

That if you ask Jimmie Moss where he lives in Cypress he always replies, "Noe" street. So how, Jimmie, could you park your car so permanently in the mud Sunday evening if there isn't any street?

That the calisthenics classes held in the school house on Wednesday and Friday evenings have been temporarily called off, as such. However, some of the members have been "working out" at other locations. They hope to whip a program into shape that can be given publicly soon, if you will mention that you'd give your supprt to such

B. J. Valentine Dies; Long-Time Cypress Resident

Benjamin J. Valentine of 8627 Walker street, died Monday morning in Orange County hospital. He was born in New Jersey and has been a resident of California for 53 years, coming to Cypress in 1911.

He is survived by a niece, Mrs. Doris Mayhall of Cypress; two nephews, Robert Valentine of Anaheim and Gilmer Valentine of Anaheim.

Private services were conducted Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the chapel of Backs, Campbell and Kaulbers, Anaheim, Rev. Howard Congdon of the Anaheim Presbyterian church officiating clergyman. Interment was in Olive Lawn cemetery.

ON WAY OUT

The only public telephone in town, this old-fashioned hand-crank phone has served Cypress since 1928.

OLDEST "CRANK" IN TOWN TO GO — And Mrs. L. E. Bryan, 5651 Danny avenue, will be glad, glad, glad. She's making a call on the magneto phone installed in the booth on Lincoln avenue which requires the twisting of a hand crank to get the operator. Manager R. J. Rossberg, of the Anaheim office of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, said Thursday that by the end of February he felt sure this phone would be replaced with a more modern instrument. Pay phones are also expected to be installed in Henry's drug store and Carl and Merle's Richfield station at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Miller road, he said. Harding and Stanton communities will continue with the "crank" type for the time being, Rossberg stated. — (P.-T. Photo.)

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX

Many millions of working Americans are finding their paychecks a little shorter as the Social Security tax has been upped from 1 to 1½ per cent. Not much—yes, but just another dig into the worker's income. When this is added to all the other digs it makes quite a hole. Next year the tax is scheduled to go up to 2 per cent.

Of course, this money is to pay for benefits and a good many billions have already been paid in. It is quite likely that these benefits will be paid—some are being paid now—but not many people realize that their contributions to the fund are mostly invested in Government bonds. In other words, the Government borrows the money from the Social Security Tax fund, uses it for current expenses and so on, and puts in its place a series of IOU's.

The Social Security reserve fund then, really doesn't exist. Benefits accrued in the past will have to be paid out of future taxes—not just Social Security taxes but all taxes.—California Commentator

I RISE TO REMARK
by John Phillips

My subcommittee, of the Appropriations Committee, has been holding its annual hearings on the budget requests of the 35 or more government agencies which come before it. A major item in each budget is always money for salaries, and this year the subcommittee was struck with the very large item, in each agency, for accumulated annual leave. During the war, an employee of a government agency was allowed to accumulate up to 90 days, and take it in cash, when he or she left the service. Since the end of the war, the limit has been returned to 60 days. The subcommittee thought the idea of an annual vacation was to refresh the employees, perhaps to help maintain the efficiency of the agency; we had not thought the idea was to accumulate extra salary against the time of separation. All this started one of the members (it sounds like your own Congressman, but in this instance it wasn't!) to figuring how hard these government employees work in a year, in Washington, and he came up with the following figures:

Sick-leave

There are 365 days in a year: deduct 52 Sundays and 52 Saturdays, for all downtown government office here work the 5 day week, and you have 261 days left. Deduct 15 days sick-leave annually and you have 246 days left. Employees may take a couple days at a time, on sick leave, without medical certificate; if they are out 3 days or more, a certificate is required. Deduct 26 days annual vacation leave, and you have 220 working days.

There are still holidays!! New Year's Day, Memorial Day, 4th of July, Labor Day, Armistice Day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas. That makes seven sure days. There are a dozen others which if not legal are distracting. Deducting the seven, we have 213 working days left.

213 official working days, out of 365. You might try to phone some of the agencies, after 4:30 in the afternoon, any day, or after about 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon. "He isn't here, Mr. Congressman. No, we don't expect him back this afternoon." And don't forget the lunch hour, and also "coffee time," allowed in most of the agencies, where it takes a half hour to slip out for a cup of coffee and catch up on government gossip, no small part of which is to keep employees informed about Civil Service regulations, and "rights."

Increase 3,000

A rough calculation, from Byrd Committee figures indicates that the net increase, in federal employees was better than 3,000 every month for the first seven months of 1949. It could be, you know, that a little harder work, and a little better management, and only enough employees to do the work as it would be done in any business house, even a very easy going business house, could be a material factor in helping to pull the Republic away from the edge of the quicksands of national collapse and back on the firmer ground of financial and moral integrity.

When we fear the approach of harder times, we should distinguish between hard times coming, and easy times going. This nation was not built to a position of internal strength and international leadership by a lot of men and women working half time, which is what the above amounts to, certainly not between 1789 and 1932, and although Harry Truman (who once went into bankruptcy by applying the same theories to his personal business that he now applies to the nation's business) seems to like the picture, I rise to remark that I do not like it, nor do I like the thought of its inevitable effects on the strength of my country, the United States of America.

COUNTY COMMENT

By GEORGE E. HART,
Orange County Press Bureau

SANTA ANA—Big news of the past week, without question, was the announcement that Metropolitan Water district plans early construction of a new feeder line through Black Star canyon into Orange county.

Significance of such a project, important as it is from any viewpoint, is heightened by the statement that this line will deliver untreated water from Lake Mathews for irrigation purposes at a price "much lower" than $15 per acre foot, which is the cost of water sold down the river by MWD to the Orange County Water district this past season.

If the Black Star project pans out as authoritative sources describe it, then the entire complexion of the situation with respect to annexing agricultural lands to MWD might be changed over night, it is believed.

Price Questioned

Presumably the whole question hangs on the reasonable cost of water. Orange county farmers apparently are ready to approve MWD untreated water, as to its quality, including boron content, but are skeptical of getting it at a price that would make it practical for them to use it.

As Dian Gardner of Orange so vigorously phrased it, the farmers would rather let their land go back to desert than pay bankruptcy prices for water. That statement was predicated, it is understood, upon the supposition that MWD water could cost as much as $50 per acre foot, or not far off that figure.

So if MWD really can and does deliver water through Black Star to this area and offer it to farmers for "much lower" than $15 per acre foot, agriculture might be expected to grab it.

Show an Orange county farmer some cheap water, and you've made a sale. But he will have to be shown.

Smudge Solution

We had a happy inspiration about eliminating smudge and all the heavy expense and hard labor of making it, not to mention the hard words. All of it out the window (instead of in the window)—just like that!

The solution was crop insurance. Wonderful! So simple, too. Why hadn't we thought of it before?

Well, of course, we found that someone had thought of it before. Still is thinking of it, for that matter. But there are a lot of angles. The idea may be good. But not simple. By no means.

It would be a fine thing ,seems like, if the citrus grower could just take out insurance against frost, then go to bed and to sleep, and let the insurance company watch the thermometer. No smudge pots, no smoke, no night work and worry. And no irate city resident on his neck.

Our happy solution was sprung, with a triumphant smirk, upon C. J. Marks, secretary-manager of the Orange County Farm Bureau. At the word "smudge" he flinched perceptibly, but otherwise took the suggestion of crop insurance calmly.

Proposal Made

Yes, he has thought of crop insurance. Yes, seriously. Still does feel that way about it. He advanced the proposal himself some time back—in print, and orally to other farm leaders. But there are hurdles along the path to this particular Utopia.

"How," asked Mr. Marks, "would you prove that the drop of fruit was caused by frost, and not something else? I have had some fruit drop in my grove lately, which I believe resulted from some other cause. Some other kind of stem trouble. With hail insurance, you can easily identify the damage. The hail beats the wheat down flat and there's no doubt what did it. But citrus fruit drop might be hard to prove against frost."

But we are sticking to our guns. Frost insurance may not be feasible. All right. Then let's get "comprehensive" insurance. Cover loss from any cause. Even if expensive it would be cheaper than oil and labor.

So that's all settled. Just one thing more. Does anybody know whether the insurance companies sell it!

Increase Property Values Factual Study Shows Freeways

By Robert L. Bangs

With the advent of freeway construction within the state, it has been incumbent upon the Division of Highways, Department of Public Works, to carry on throughout the State of California extensive studies to determine the effect, on property values, of the construction of freeways.

This article concerns the area abutting on and adjacent to U.S. Highway 99 (State Route 4), from the south city limits of Fresno southerly to the town of Fowler, a distance of 9½ miles.

U.S. 99 at present is carrying 30,000 cars daily through the area. There were sufficient sales to enable a study to be made of the actual effect on real property values caused by the realignment and conversion of the existing highway to a freeway.

Conclusions were based on the sale of 18 parcels adjacent to the freeway, and 23 parcels not abutting on the freeway, but in the immediate vicinity.

To make a fair evaluation of the data compiled, the external factors were taken into consideration, such as the over-all increase in real estate prices during the years 1946-49.

One of the parcels was a rectangular section of unimproved land containing approximately 20 acres. (see illustration). Proposed construction plans necessitated acquisition of a 180-foot strip off the northeast corner. The state paid the indicated market value of $200 per acre. Subsequent to the opening of the freeway, the easterly 12.9 acres of the remaining property having its only access by way of an easement to Orange avenue which in turn, connects with the freeway, sold for a price of $1430 per acre.

The results of the study showed that in not one instance has the property sold for a lesser sum per acre than the indicated market value of the same property prior to the freeway construction. Increased values range from $100 per acre to $4700 per acre.

A change of land use pattern was clearly shown by improvements worth approximately a million dollars which have been constructed since the opening of the freeway. Substantial business organizations have been the first to see the economic advantages of locations adjacent to the freeways.

Rick Townswick and Charles Richmond attended the races at Santa Anita Wednesday afternoon.

Lee stradley underwent minor surgery in Anaheim on Tuesday, to correct an infection of the ear. He was operated on about a year ago for this condition.

SPECIAL MEETING BUSY BEE'S CLUB IN BUZZO'S HOME

Mrs. Frank Buzzo's home at 5532 Danny avenue will be open next Tuesday evening, January 31, to members of the Busy Bees club. This special meeting and the next regular one a week later will be the last times an opportunity will be available to join the group as a charter member.

A sum of $27 was cleared on Saturday's bake sale. Most in demand was the tamale pie, potato sald and baked beans.

A "galloping box" is making the rounds of the members. This is a novel idea to increase funds in the treasury. Members remove the gift the box contains, place a sum of money in the "kitty," add another gift and pass the box to another member.

AUXILIARY MEMBERS TO SEW AFGHANS FOR HOSPITAL USE

Members of the auxiliary to Cypress post No. 9847 of the VFW voted at their last meeting to hold business meetings twice a month instead of one business meeting and one social as has been the practice in the past three months.

An announcement was made that a canasta party is sponsored by the post every Saturday night at the VFW hall. Refreshments and prizes are features of the affairs.

The department president will visit at the next district meeting to be held February 12 in Santa Ana. An appeal was made for afghans for use of wheel chair patients in veterans' hospitals. Betty Knauss invited members to sew at her house.

A social hour followed the business meeting, when refreshments were served.

Pacific Company Adds 104,000 Southland Telephones During 1949

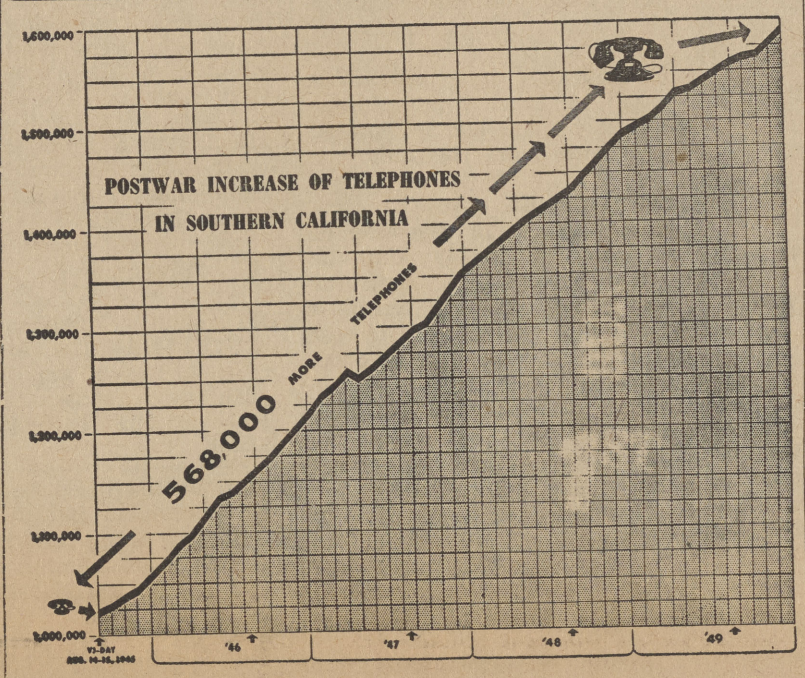
Nearly 104,000 telephones were added in Southern California exchanges of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company during 1949, a history-making year of accelerated expansion highlighted by increased equipment and facilities for more telephones and improved service.

This announcement of continuing communications progress was made today by Manager R. Rossberg. He said that the telephone gain last year has increased the number now served by the Pacific company in the Southland to nearly 1,590,000. There were 599 telephones added ing 1949, making a total of 6960 ing 1949, making a total of 1328 in service here.

Unfilled applications for new service were reduced from 84,500 to 41,300—more than 51 per cent —during the year, despite a continuing heavy telephone demand in most exchanges. "While this figure is higher than we should like," the manager said, "it is approaching normal. For at all times there are some telephones on order awaiting completion."

Rossberg pointed out that since September, 1945, when the war came to an end and when Pacific Telephone started the greatest expansion program in its history, the company has added about 568,000 telephones in its 79 Southern California exchanges ,of which 3553 were added in the Anaheim exchange. He attributed the unprecedented telephone gain to the large postwar influx of population which has migrated to Southern California and to the demand for telephone service from persons who never before wanted it.

Rossberg announced that the telephone company's expansion program for 1950 plans gross construction of more than $50,000,000 in the Southland—about two and one-half times the amount expended during an average pre-war year.



1949 TELEPHONE GROWTH IN SOUTHLAND—Phenomenal telephone increase in Southern California exchanges of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, since the end of the war is shown graphically in this illustration.

INTERESTING TRIO—Marie La Toure, Joe-Joe the clown and a gaily draped camel appear as one of the featured attractions at Imperial Exposition shows, midway. The Imperial show open on Saturday at the corner of Manchester and Stanton.

State income taxpayers will receive assistance with preparation of their income tax reports when a representative of the state franchise tax commissioner arrives at the Santa Ana chamber of commerce March 1, for a stay of several weeks.

Income tax forms of the state will be available at the chamber of commerce offices after Feb. 15, announced Secretary Stanley Bates. This will be the only place in the county where such forms will be available, and taxpayers from all sections are expected to make use of them, and the assistance of the state official.

Triangle Tied for Third Place After 2 to 1 Win Over Monarch

With Claire Hitt rolling a 182 and a 174 Wednesday night, the Triangle Drive-in's bowling team took two and lost one to the Monarch cleaners of Buena Park and moved into a tie for third place in the Women's Handicap league at Buena Park.

Triangle has moved up from the bottom of the league in the past two months.

Captain Dottie O'Neal also helped the cause, hitting 172 pins in one game, while Zedith Hathcock and Charlene (Charlie) Falls garnered 133's.

Merchants No. 1 Win

Cypress Merchant No. 1 team, led by Harry Torrence who hit a 510 series, took three points from Lalicker's Dry Goods, losing one. Clyde O'Neal had high single game for the locals with a 178.

Only loser of the week's activities was the Merchant No. 2 aggregation. The Lion's club of Buena Park won a three to one victory over them in spite of Salty Fall' 574 series. Alex Wilson had high game of 222. Wilson also managed to win honors as low man with a 106 in his next game.

CALIFORNIA TO GAIN EIGHT NEW MEMBERS OF HOUSE THIS YEAR

California will gain eight new members in the House of Representatives when seats are reapportioned after the 1950 census is tabulated, Congresswoman Helen Gahagan Dougles predicted yesterday.

Mrs. Douglas, now a candidate for U. S. Senator, said that the added representation will give the people of California a greater say-so on national and international issues in Washington than ever before.

Merchant Cagers Victims of Rotary, 38-31

Falling behind after a 21 to 15 lead at the half, the Cypress Merchant cagers lost to Anaheim's Rotary team 38 to 31 Monday night.

The loss leaves the local team in fifth place in the Anaheim league, having six wins against five losses.

Mene led the Merchants in scoring, hitting for 11 points. Boyd followed with eight, Walters had six, Hoyt, one and Wright, five.

WEEKEND FIRES KEEP CYPRESS BOYS BUSY

Quick thinking on the part of Cypress volunteer firemen Friday night prevented serious damage when acid was spilled on the pavement at Orangethorpe and Miller road.

A chemical pickup truck driven by H. Alvarez of Long Beach and a dairy truck driven by J. Valentine of Buena Park collided in the fog. Since the very damp fog could have caused the acid spilled on the pavement to explode when coming in contact with water, dirt was spread over the pavement and traffic detoured until vehicles could be moved.

At midnight a fire totally destroyed an auto belonging to Norville Chapman. The fire was apparently caused by a short in the ignition. The blaze ocurred on Crescent just off Walker, and dense fog made the firemen's work extremely dangerous.

Miss Pat Martin is employed in the Cypress cleaners. She began her new duties Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis returned last Wednesday from Denver, Colorado. While there they attended the wedding of a daughter. The trip was made by bus instead of in their own car, as originally planned.

MARKET'S SPECIAL ANNIVERSARY SALE MARKS YEAR'S END

Gregg's super market's three-day sale celebrating its first anniversary at 5941 Lincoln avenue last Friday, Saturday and Sunday was reported a success.

Mrs. "Bucky" Buckerfield, wife of Knudsen's supervisor from South Gate, surprised Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Gregg with a cake baked for the occasion. Covered with white frosting, the cake was decorated with yellow icing and a single candle was appropriately placed in the center. The route driver and district manager were also present for the presentation.

Kiddies were furnished ice cream cups free, to the tune of 16 dozen. Customers received many free gifts and samples during the three days.

First prize winner at the drawing was K. B. Kemp, a former Cypress resident who now lives in Buena Park; second prize, Mrs. Royalty and third, Wilfred Moore, of Miller road. As an added surprise, an additional drawing was held for two 5-pound and one 10-pound sacks of sugar.

CLOSE DRESS SHOP ON LINCOLN AVENUE

Billie's Dress shop at 5516 Lincoln avenue moved its stock to the Artesia store this week.

The store was opened on April 1, last year, as "The fashion shop," carrying a line of men's and women's merchandise. It subsequently became a shop of women's apparel only, and the name was changed to "Billie's dress shop" to conform to the name of the store the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sheldon, operate in Artesia.

Mrs. Dian Morris, manager, was to continue this week in the Artesia shop.

School Aids Children in Fire Disaster

By Joe Cram

On January 18, a fire broke out in the home of Neal Spratte. The house was burned down and everything with it.

The Cypress School, through the P-T.A., started collecting things for the Spratte family. Complete clothing was given to each member of the family by the P-T.A. salvage company of Fullerton.

The school children collected clothing that weighed about 200 pounds. They collected bedding, three large boxes of canned goods, fruits, jellies, jams, vegetables and baby food. Mrs. Lissner's sixth grade collected towels and soap. The three first grades brought toys and books. One of the teachers brought a 20,000 B.T.U. oil burner.

We would like to thank the children for their complete cooperation.

County Chamber to Hear W. E. Stone At Berry Farm

Willis E. Stone, founder of the American Progress Foundation, will address the monthly membership dinner meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county to be held at Knott's Berry Farm Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. His topic will be, "Your Competitor—Uncle Sam".

An industrial Market Analyst by profession and a student of political economy by avocation, Stone is the author of many articles on business, industry and politics. He writes a weekly newspaper column, titled "The Curious American", which deals with national affairs. He is the founder and organizer of the American Progress Foundation, a past district governor of Lions clubs, active in American Legion affairs, and a leader of affairs of his local community.

In his address at the Chambers meeting, Stone proposes an ammendment to the Constitution of the United States to provide that: "The United States of America shall not engage in any business, commercial or industrial enterprise, in competition with its citizens".

P-T.A. DIST. MEMBERS HEAR DISCUSSION NEW SCHOOL BOUNDARIES

Mmes. R. E. Van Klaveren, Murel Bouse, George Alleman, Ivan Mahaffie, John Lukens, and Howard Decker attended the fourth district meeting of the P-T.A. in Garden Grove on January 19.

Honoring Founder's Day (in the district) three life memberships were awarded from the state. One national membership was given to the president of the fourth district, Mrs. Leah Milligan.

Lindsey Simmons, county superintendent of schools, talked on school boundaries, which it is felt have become out-moded through the years. It is planned to change the boundaries in a good many instances to separate school districts and it is expected that within a year the changes will be made where they overlap.

A program in the school's auditorium was presented by children in the fifth grade at Fitz school.

Luncheon was served in the high school cafeteria.

SAID IN CYPRESS—

a project. We mean YOU — Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public, Cypress, California. You've shown what stuff you've got in you—as witness the recent fire emergency. We shall now be expecting other things from you in the interest of the community.

That it's time to once again urge citizens to join the Cypress chamber of commerce. The meetings are held the second and fourth Mondays of the month at the schoolhouse.

That Mrs. Florence P. Black, secretary of the Stanton chamber, came into our office Tuesday. She wants to ask James Broadbelt, our president, to give a talk in Stanton. We compared a few notes and find that each of us could take some lessons from the other. For instance, their membership was over 100 last year! Ours was 40 some.

That Mrs. "Pony" Swenson, whose husband is managing editor of a newspaper in Fullerton, called on Wednesday in the interests of a drive to raise funds for the crippled children of Orange county. Seals will be sold for the Easter season, and by buying the seals, you will be aiding the cause.

That no one has come to us personally about it, but we noticed a container over in the schoolhouse for "March of dimes" contributions. In case you have wondered where you could make a donation.

That we stopped by Mrs. Ross Mester's and took a look at that beautiful orchid which you saw presented to her Sunday evening if you watched the "Best Dressed Woman" show on television. We were prejudiced, because our vote was heart and soul for Pauline to win that wristwatch. We bet she's glad that her two Ross's, senior and junior, insisted that she write the letter which gained her a place on the program, though. The guests were given a tour of the studios which proved to be very interesting. And wasn't it fine the way she spoke right out when she said she was from Cypress?

That we missed sending the Howard twins, Gayle and "Susie," a greeting on the occasion of their first birthday anniversary Wednesday. So here 'tis—"Happy birthday, girls." And may many more of them be spent right here in Cypress!

That if the Girl Scout who came in to see us about running an ad would come back, we think we have a solution to your problem.

That we really don't know a thing. We had such a marvelous weekend at that fabulous Del Coronado hotel attending the annual publisher's convention, that we barely got around to the essentials for this week's edition. Would you believe it? We came all the way home from San Diego Saturday in a night as clear as a bell—until we hit a spot between here and Anaheim, where the fog was so thick we could scarcely find the white line!

C of C Prexy Renames Heads Of Committees

Chamber of Commerce members heard a communique read at its meeting Monday night from the Public Utilities commission which stated that a petition received from Cypress protesting the abandonment of the P.E.'s passenger service would become a part of the correspondence filed in the proceedings and would receive due consideration. They pointed out that the hearings were finished December 17.

The matter of setting up a coordinating welfare council, similar to one now operating in Buena Park, was given some thought. The council would operate in case of an emergency or appeal for the needy in the community. J. E. Smith described briefly the VFW's committee which would function in case of earthquakes, tidal wave, attack, or similar major disaster.

It was reported that Earl Essex had been instructed to provide flowers in the name of the organization for a new business and death. A. E. Arnold was named by President James Broadbelt to continue as head of the sanitation committee and Fred Mackay and Price Seibert to hold office again on the planning committee.

The citizen's welfare committee appointed by President Broadbelt later was a result of the discussion Frank Noe introduced when he suggested that a committee be formed to help administer funds left at the hardware store for the Neal Spratt family.

It was suggested that as many as possible plan to attend the dinner meeting Tuesday night at Knott's.

GIVE PARTY FOR LOW-TEENS IN DEAN'S HOME

A group of boys and girls, mostly eighth graders, were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Dean on Acacia street last Saturday night. Their daughter, Rosemary, acted as hostess.

Present were Rosetta Smith, Elaine Miranda, "Po Po" Slabaugh, Roberta Raub, Billie Van Klaveren, Paul Caperone, Mickey Gowyd, Nolan Blackman, Narcie Fererreia, Mary Lou Hoxsie, Carlene Bremer, Kaker Van Dyke, Mary Jean Fitch, Jimmie McLaughlin, Barbara Messer, Dean Watson, Juanita Washburn, and Mrs. Fitch, besides Mr. and Mrs. Dean, and their son, Junior Dean.

Two cakes, two kinds of ice cream, and root beer were served at refreshment time.
